STANDING TREAT.—[From the Chicago Post.]—No American custom causes more genuine surprise and amusement among traveling foreigners than that which is known in our saloons as "treating"—consisting in the entertainment of two or more with refreshments for which one volunteer pays. It is a pure Americanism; all over the Republic it is as common as in Europe it is unknown. There is probably no minute of any day in the year when two or three hundred citizens of Chicago are not guzzling something stronger than water at somebody else's expense.

The casual meeting of two men who have ever exchanged a word together is a signal for both instantly to exclaim, "Come, let's have something!" and for both to dive down into the nearest subterranean cavity below the sidewalk. The one who spoke first usually insists upon "paying the shot"—the word "shot" being a metaphorical reference to the deadly character of the contents usually taken into the stomach. If two old friends meet, the regular thing to say first is, "Let's drink to old times!" and the resident must invariably "treat" the stranger. If a man be well acquainted, it is considered the princely thing to treat upon all his acquaintances as often as possible; take them to a saloon, and give them a complicated stand up drink at the bar, and if there is anything absurd in this habit, we are unable to put our finger on it. Men do not always "treat" one another to carriages because they happen to meet on the same seat. We never saw a man take out his pocket-book on encountering an acquaintance, and say, "Ah, George! Delighted to see you! Do take a few postage stamps! It's my treat!" Do men have a mania for paying each other's board bills? And is drinking together more "social" than eating together or sleeping together?

A traveler may go all over the continents of Europe, of Asia and of Africa, without seeing any man, except a Yankee, offer to "treat," and the Frenchmen are quite social enough, but when they turn into a cafe to sip their wine or brandied coffee together, each man pays for his own. When two Germans, long separated, meet, they will be very likely to embrace, and then to turn into an adjacent beer cellar, sit down and drink lager and eat pretzels and eat, but when they part again, each man settles his own score independently. So in Italy. The Italians are proverbially merry and generous, but each man pays for his own wine, macaroni and cigars. They never go into each other's pocket book in the sacred name of friendship. They would as soon think of transferring to each other their washerwoman's bills.

The preposterous fashion of "treating" is responsible for the terrible drunkenness in America. There would be as little need of temperance societies and little work for the Good Templars as there is in Germany, France and Italy, if this pernicious and insidious habit was abolished. It is, take it all in all, the most ridiculous, the most unreasonable, and the most pestilent custom ever laid its tyrannical hand on civilized human beings.

A HORRIBLE STORY.—John Hanlon is now on trial in Philadelphia for the abuse and murder, on the 6th of September, 1868, of a little child about six years old named Mary Mohrman. The crime, at the time of its commission, was involved in impenetrable mystery, and created great excitement. Until a few months ago there seemed to be no probability of finding any evidence sufficient to fix a reasonable suspicion upon any person, though several men were arrested and discharged soon after the discovery of the murder. The circumstances were as follows:—

Mary Mohrman was missed by her mother, a widow, on Sunday evening, September 6, 1868. After inquiring among the neighbors until a late hour, she gave notice of the lost child at a Police Station. On Monday night and Tuesday morning following, Mary's body was found in a sunken city lot, in shallow water. It bore evidence of an outrage, and had evidently been thrown where it was found by a person who had murdered the child. It was shown in Court that a man had met the little girl, while with some companions, and had asked her to go with him to show him the corner of Fifth and Dauphin streets. He took her hand, and was last seen walking away with her; he was apparently traced some distance by various witnesses who had seen the couple, but there was some disagreement in the description of the man and his costume, and the evidence was not sufficiently definite to identify any one. The excitement continued some weeks, but gradually died out, and all hope of discovering the criminal was given up.

Several months ago the detectives, who seem to have kept the case in mind since 1868, discovered what they thought was a clue to the mystery. John Hanlon was a barber, who lived near where Mary Mohrman's mother resided. The latter was acquainted with him and his family. Hanlon was sent to the Moyamensing Prison on a sentence of five years for a crime, and was placed in a cell with another convict, Michael Dunn, December 29, 1868. During his confinement with Dunn, Hanlon confided to him, according to Dunn's sworn statement, the fact that he was the murderer of Mary Mohrman, together with the particulars of the tragedy.

It is upon this story of Dunn's that the present trial is chiefly founded, together with such corroborating testimony of others as can be brought to bear upon the case. The friends of Hanlon are trying to prove an alibi. The story of the murder, as sworn to by the convict, Dunn, being ostensibly Hanlon's private confession to him, produced intense excitement in Court, as many of the details given seemed to correspond with other testimony.

THE STEWART PARLOR BASE-BURNING STOVE.
The increasing demand for a first-class and reliable base-burner and self-feeding stove which has been pressing upon all stove dealers so much of late, has induced the inventor and manufacturers of the celebrated STEWART STOVES to turn their attention in that direction, and the result is the production of a stove which for beauty of design, economy in the use of fuel, capacity for heating, and completeness in all its operations, is unsurpassed by any stove now in the market.
The advantages claimed are:
Economy in the use of Fuel.—This stove being designed to overcome the great objection which has been raised against most of the self feeders now in use, namely, the inordinate consumption of fuel. The Stewart Parlor Base-Burner being provided with a brick lined fire pot and complete escape of cinders or ashes into the room while shaking or dumping the grate.
Size of Coal.—While in other base burners it has been found absolutely necessary to use only the smallest size of coal, this stove has been constructed with its interior magazine and grate that the larger sizes of coal, ordinarily burned in parlor stoves, may be used with the best results. This is an important advantage, as the larger sized coal is purer and produces a greater heat, and prevents the waste arising from so much fuel falling through the grate.
This stove is offered to the public with the full belief that it contains better heating and economizing features than any other base burner now in use. Persons desiring a new stove are requested to give it a thorough examination, and satisfy themselves that it is the best. It is recommended to persons who have the Stewart Parlor Base Burner in use: Dr. Thomas Lookerman, Mrs. Thomas Burns, T. D. Fendall, esq., Burke & Herbert, City Post Office and others of our city—all of whom unite in recommending it.

I keep also on hand a full assortment of WOOD AND COAL STOVES. The celebrated STEWART COOKING STOVE, with latest improvements, of the different sizes, furnished. All kinds of Repairing, Boiling and Plugging work executed in the best manner and with dispatch at the lowest cash prices.

MEDICAL.

BALTIMORE LOCK HOSPITAL.
DR. JOHNSTON,
Physician of this celebrated institution, has discovered the most Certain, Speedy, Pleasant and Effective Remedy in the world for all DISEASES OF IMPRUDENCE.

Weakness of the Back or Limbs, Strictures Affecting the Kidneys or Bladder, Involuntary Discharges, Impotency, General Debility, Nervousness, Dyspepsia, Languor, Low Spirits, Confusion of Ideas, Palpitation of the Heart, Timidity, Trembling, Dimness of Sight, Giddiness, Disease of the Head, Throat, Nose or Skin, Affections of the Liver, Lungs, Stomach or Bowels—those terrible Disorders arising from Solitary Habits of Youth—secret and solitary practices more fatal to their victims than the song of the Sirens to the Mariner of Olden times, blighting their most brilliant hopes or anticipations, &c.

YOUNG MEN
Especially, who have become the Victims of Solitary Vice, and dreadful and destructive habits which annually sweep to an untimely grave thousands of young men of the most exalted talents and brilliant intellect, who might otherwise have entered listening Senates with the thunders of eloquence, or walked to ecstasy the living lyre, may call with full confidence.

MARRIAGE.
Married persons, or Young Men contemplating marriage, aware of Physical Weakness (Loss of Procreative Power—Impotency, Nervous Excitability, Irritability, Organic Weakness, Nervous Debility, or any other Disqualification, speedily relieved.
He who places himself under the care of Dr. J. may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS.
Immediately cured and Full Vigor Restored. This distressing Affection—which renders life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to combat the consequences of their early excesses. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the natural powers are lost sooner by their falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy conjugal intercourse, and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becomes deranged, the Physical and Mental Functions weakened. Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Irritability, Constitutional Debility, and Wasting of the Frame, Cough, Consumption, Decay and Death.
